

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus is disclosed for performing real time video/audio/data encoding on a single chip. Within the single chip, a video encoder generates encoded video data from uncompressed video data and an audio encoder generates encoded audio data from uncompressed audio data. A mux processor within the single chip generates an output stream of encoded data from the encoded video data and the encoded audio data and the sliced user data.